

people doing strange things with electricity

The 5g5s-th dorkbot-nyc meeting will take place at 7PM on Wednesday, May 5, 2010 at Location One in SoHo. The meeting is free and open to the public. It's the last meeting of the season, so let's have some fun! Please bring snacks to share. We're always looking for (and playing) more dorkbot theme songs! Bring or email one and we'll play it at the meeting.

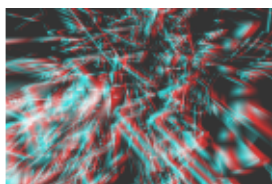

Featuring the dikaryotic and histone-free:

Julia Vallera: Color Wheelz

Julia Vallera is an interactive designer interested in building community through innovation and play. Her current project, Color Wheelz is a custom designed van that travels to different neighborhoods in New York City. It is a platform to reflect on the presence of color in various communities. Colorful objects are manipulated by visitors to represent their neighborhood. Color Wheelz aims to teach people about local culture by looking at the the power and meaning of color.

Nick Didkovsky : recent software-assisted composition

Nick will present his new composition "Firm Soapy Hothead", commissioned by new music quartet "loadbang". The piece brings together dadaistic aphorisms that he penned with his colleague Charles O'Meara (aphorismoftheday.com), Nick's own automatic composition software authored in JMSL (algomusic.com), and the formidable talents of loadbang (Jeffrey Gavett – baritone voice, Andy Kozar – trumpet, William Lang – trombone, Alejandro Acierto – bass clarinet, loadbangmusic.com). Nick will demonstrate the software he used to compose the piece, and loadbang will be on hand to perform a few movements from the work.
